EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with John Issac on April 12, 2007.

The application has been amended as follows:

In the claims:

In claim 11, line 4, "projection" has been deleted and --protection--has been added after "warmth".

In claim 21, line 5, "projection" has been deleted and --protection--has been added after "warmth".

In claim 21, between lines 15 and 16 -- a pair of sleeve members each adapted to selectively contain one said audio speaker, each said sleeve member being selectively secured in and adjustably positioned within said cavity by at least one said attachment element to enable placement of said audio speakers opposite the ear openings of any individual wearing said device; -- has been inserted.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The present invention is directed to an elastic headband with an integrated audio system. Independent claims 1, 11 and 21 identify the uniquely distinct feature of an stretchable cloth headband with an inner cavity and a pair of sleeve members each adapted to selectively contain one audio speaker, each sleeve member being selectively secured in and adjustably positioned within the cavity by at least one attachment element to enable placement of said audio speakers opposite the ear openings of any individual wearing said device in combination with all the disclosed limitations of claims 1, 11 and 21. The closest prior art Shultz et al. (US 5625903) teaches a fabric headband comprising speaker repositionable by moving the speakers in one of several selected slotted pockets but fails to teach a sleeve member for location of the speakers; and Spates (US 4864619) teaches a flexible, breathable fabric headband containing an audio speaker system.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
